SURPRISED

When They Heard Metcalfe Was Out.

A TRIBUTE TO RAILROADER.

SOUTHERN EXPECTS A BIG WINTER BUSINESS.

EARNINGS SHOW INCREASE.

The retirement of Mr. J. G. Metcalfe as general manager of the Denver and Rio Grande was learned with regret by his friends here yesterday, especially his old associates in the general offices of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Mr. Metcalfe was always popular with the men under him, and also with the higher officials of the company. It was with regret that they saw him leave Louisville, but knowing his ability they believe that he will soon fall into another good berth.

Mr. Metcalfe was accounted the best train dispatcher the South had during the days when train dispatching was considered something of an art and it required a man thoroughly acquainted with his duties to be able to discharge them and at the same time keep a great system in constant motion. Mr. Metcalfe first came into prominence as a dispatcher on the Louisville and Nashville when he had the title of "Chief Train Dispatcher." That was a good many years ago and at a time when it was not an infrequent occurrence for freight trains to be lost for hours at a time. An old associate of his, in recalling some of his experiences yesterday, said: "I never saw a man like Metcalfe. Under the most exciting circumstances he never lost his head and he could clear the track quicker than any man who ever wore the title of chief dispatcher. Years ago, when dispatching was considered an art, freight engines were not as large as they are today but they never left a terminal with less than twenty heavily loaded cars behind them. Steam brakes were unheard of on freight trains and the brakemen and a conductor were supposed to run the entire train. The result was that before they got ten miles out, the train would be broken in a half dozen places, was hours behind time, and everything was in a chaotic state. The road would be blocked for miles and other trains were laid out. These delays usually occurred in the morning and when Mr. Metcalfe got down to his office he found everybody sweating and fuming and praying that he would hurry. Metcalfe would take hold of things and in two hours time he would have the track cleared and trains running on time.

"He never lost his head. It made little difference to him whether a passenger train of twenty coaches had been wrecked and every soul on it killed, or whether a box car had jumped the track, he was the same. His first thought was to clear the track and under his directions it could be cleared quicker, almost, than the wreck occurred."

Expert Big Winter Business.

Mr. George B. Allen, general passenger agent of the Southern railway, with headquarters at St. Louis, was here yesterday in consultation with Mr. R. M. Allen, district passenger agent, with reference to Southern business this winter. Mr. Allen said that the outlook is good for a heavy Florida travel this winter and his road is making extensive preparations to handle it. The company will inaugurate a fine dining car service as soon as the season opens. Mr. Allen reports passenger traffic heavy and says that the St. Louis division of the road is enjoying a business now. The roadbed and the equipment are being placed in first-class condition.

BIG BUSINESS

BEING DONE BY THE LOUISVILLE MERCHANTS.

Out-of-Town Buyers Are Running Much Over Purchases Made In Former Years.

Louisville's fall business is better than for some years, and promises to be the best the city has ever experienced. An inquiry among Main-street jobbing houses yesterday elicited the information that country merchants were buying in larger quantities than they had in previous years.

A glance at the books of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association is also convincing that fall buying has been and continues to be extremely heavy. The number of merchants who had visited the city during the season has not been quite so large as in past years, but they seem to be extending the season, doubtless in account of the warm weather. However, those who have visited the local market have bought more freely than ever before. This is especially true of merchants of interior Kentucky. A merchant of Jackson, who has been a buyer here for years, but who has been out of the city several hundred dollars' worth of goods, came this year and from one house bought a bill which amounted to more than $2,000. He visited other houses, and before he left the city he had passed the $4,000 mark. The books of the association, where the sales of every house are recorded, show that merchants who have been coming to keep their bills above $1,000, and many of them as high as $2,000, and others even above that. Merchants who have bought in small lots heretofore have in many instances gone as high as $500. Louisville has drawn a remarkably fine business from the South this year, and many of her merchants are yet to come.

The increase in the volume of trade from Kentucky towns is thought to be due to the advertising the city and her merchants received from the Board of Trade excursions last summer and the Interstate Fair. These advertisements, coupled with the low rates granted by the railroads to all of the attractions the city had during the fall and summer, served to attract people here, and many who came here have since returned and bought in the markets. Much new territory has been developed this year, and from this merchants have drawn considerable business.

Secretary Telford, of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, said yesterday that every jobbing house on Main street was highly satisfied with its fall business, and he cited several firms who had told him that this had been the best fall in their history.

BRANDY OUTPUT

WILL BE SHORT BECAUSE OF APPLE CROP.

Many Plants Not In Operation—More Peach Brandy Than Usual Is Being Made.

As an evidence of the short apple crop, it is reported from the office of the Internal Revenue Agent for Kentucky here that less than 125 brandy distilleries are now in operation. This is far below the number generally running at the present season of the year. In some sections the yield from orchards has approached the average, as in Clinton county, and the distilling capacity is practically as in former years. In Russell, an adjoining county, however, the crop is poor and many stills lie idle. In Green, where there are an even dozen plants, only one is doing business. More peach brandy than usual is being made, but not enough to balance the limitation in apple brandy; therefore the brandy output for Kentucky this year will be short.

Internal Revenue Receipts.
The internal revenue collections yesterday were as follows: Beer, $2,816; whisky, $15,821.77; cigars, $433.70; tobacco, $7,880.57; special tax, $18.75; case stamps, $56; documentary stamps, $117.25; promissory stamps, $41.

TURNED ON

White Light Shines On Sapp's Record.

EXAMINER KEMP HERE.
SENT BY CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONERS.

"POLITICAL ASSESSMENTS."

Says President Will Remove Any Official Against Whom Charges Are Proved.

QUESTIONS MANY WITNESSES.

Uncle Sam seems now to be after "Boss" Sapp's scalp in earnest. Mr. J. J. Kemp, an examiner for the Civil Service Commission, is in Louisville, having been sent here by the commissioners with the order to report the result of his investigations at Washington as quickly as possible. Mr. Kemp is at the Galt House, and it is understood that he has been one of the busiest men in the city since his arrival. He has been visited by numerous Republicans who remained closeted with him for hours.

Mr. Kemp was seen last night at the Galt House. He admitted that he had been hoping that his presence here would not be detected.

"It is true," said he, "I am here conducting an investigation for the Civil Service Commission. Charges have been made that Federal employees here have been assessed money for political purposes, and I am to ascertain the truth of these statements. I have done considerable work, but will not finish until the latter part of this week. I shall then return to Washington to make my report."

"How do the commissioners proceed against persons charged with violations of the civil service rules?" was asked. "They recommend the official's removal to the Secretary of the Treasury, but, of course, the President finally passes on the case."

In answer to questions, Mr. Kemp said Mr. Sapp's removal was recommended nearly two years ago, but no action was taken on the matter. "Is there any punishment provided for persons who assess Federal employees for political purposes?" was asked. "Oh, yes; and a severe penalty, too," answered Mr. Kemp. "I believe persons proved to be guilty of such a violation of the law can be fined $500 or imprisoned for three years."

Mr. Kemp added: "I am of the opinion that it can be relied upon that if any such charges were proved against any Federal official President Roosevelt would remove him from office in short order."

Mr. Kemp said he had never met Mr. Sapp. "Does the collector know you are conducting this investigation?" was asked. "I do not know. He may know. I have not said that my mission has anything to do with Mr. Sapp."

The renewal of the investigation by the Civil Service Commission indicates that they are convinced that Mr. Sapp has violated the rules and should be removed from office. Secretary Gage once recommended Mr. Sapp's dismissal, and it is not probable that he has changed his views on the matter. In addition, the President is known to favor strict adherence to the civil service rules. Consequently, Mr. Sapp's removal is believed to be a mere matter of time.

It is claimed that Mr. Kemp will have no difficulty in obtaining abundant proof that the collector has ignored and violated the civil service rules at will. Republicans who have been before the examiner have not told any one of what is being done, but the number of persons who have called on Mr. Kemp is said to be conclusive proof that he is not worrying over a lack of witnesses.

RYANS THE CHOICE FOR WHARFMASER.

His Resignation As Alderman Is So Construed By Politicians and Others.

It is now the general belief that Alderman John Ryans' resignation means that he has been selected by the Republican members of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners as Wharfmaster. To succeed F. I. Brocar, Mr. Brocar's term of office does not expire until November 9, but the Republicans claim they have a right to elect his successor at any time. At their meeting to be held next Monday, it is understood that Mr. Ryans will be named. The legality of his election, however, will have to be determined later in the courts. Mr. Ryans is said to be the choice of Mr. P. Booker Reed. Consequently, the party opposition to his election by the friends of Dr. L. W. German and Capt. William Elkin, and also the supporters of Mr. Brocar, who desire his resignation.

MISS BURNS' INJURIES PROVED FATAL.

Was Burned By Falling Upon a Stove—Victim Eighty Years Old.

The burns which Miss Eliza Burns, of 1210 West Walnut street, sustained on Monday proved fatal. She died shortly before midnight on Tuesday, after suffering great pain. She was eighty years old, and her advanced age had much to do with the fatal termination of the accident.

Miss Burns' left side and shoulder were badly burned. The old woman died.

This is Thompson Day at the Newsboys' Home, the anniversary of the birth of the founder of the institution, the late Judge Reginald H. The programme arranged for the evening is one in which the memory of the philanthropist will be cherished in speech and song.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the burial was in Eastern cemetery.

Mel James Retires To-day.

With to-day the service of Mr. Mel. James as deputy United States marshal will cease, owing to a reduction of the office force ordered by the department since the formation of a second judicial district in the State. Three deputies are left in the office. Dr. James will be allowed two extra bailiffs during sessions of court, but will not make the appointments for some time. Mr. James will go in business here. He has made an efficient officer and quits the Customhouse with the regret of employees in every office.

EQUIPPED

FOR EFFECTIVE DEFENSE AGAINST NAVAL ATTACK.

Twenty-five Harbors in America Provided With Guns and Mortars.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Twenty-five of the principal harbors of the United States now have a sufficient number of heavy guns and mortars mounted to permit of effective defense against naval attack, says Gen. Gillespie, chief of engineers, in his annual report. He briefly describes the original project framed by the Endicott Board for the coast defense and shows how it has been amended from year to year.

The important changes were the provision for rapid-fire guns, a reduction in the number of heavy guns, and the elimination of armored defenses. Provision has been made for replacing 325 heavy guns, 327 rapid-fire guns and 376 mortars. Now Gen. Gillespie wants sites for more mortar batteries, and for gun and mortar batteries asks an appropriation of $4,000,000.

Pneumatic Gun Batteries.

The Fortifications Board having declared pneumatic gun batteries obsolete, the department has discontinued work on such batteries at Fisher's Island and Port Royal. An estimate of $300,000 is submitted for preservation and repair of fortifications, which is less than one-half of 1 per cent. of their value. During the year negotiations have proceeded for the purchase of fortification sites in Boston harbor (two), in Narragansett (three), New York harbor (extension of Fort Newton, three sites), Port Royal, San Francisco, San Diego, St. John's river, Ft. St. Philip and Cape Henry, Va. With few exceptions these sites must be procured by condemnation. An estimate of $2,000,000 is submitted for purchase of sites.

Submarine Mines.

For the construction of submarine mines and storage facilities an estimate of $100,000 is submitted, and for searchlight apparatus of $500,000 for installation, and of $500,000 for maintenance and operation. The estimates are urgently recommended. The experience at New York has shown that economy in installation is promoted by using the fortification plants for post illumination also. The estimates submitted will fully equip with searchlights four more important harbors.

Gen. Gillespie takes up in detail the state of the defenses in each of the fortification districts, showing just what Company, West, Stubbs & Co., W. H. Donigan, Green River Asphalt Company, W. P. Cole, Louisville Pillow Company, West, Stubbs & Co., W. H. Nell and John T. Barbee & Co.

An Honest Plea For Work.

We have received the following sensible letter, embracing a touching appeal from a most estimable and capable woman:

"We are now at the Confederate Soldiers' Home. There are many conditions to be met here that make it impossible for us to stay longer than the trial month agreed upon when we undertook the work. The conditions were not represented to us by the management, and we shall not remain longer than November 1."

"No doubt you think it strange my husband does not write himself. There are many good men—you have met them—who are suffering from financial reverses, especially when financial reverses overtake them, but who with a little encouragement rise again to greater success than at first. They have thought experience. Mr. —'s nature is such, mine just the reverse. I am always hopeful and feel sure we will succeed when we are both so willing to work. When I tell you my husband had ten years' training in a Chancery Office you will be convinced that he is well fitted as a methodical business man for that kind of work or any other kind of clerical work."

"For myself, I will say during my early married life I copied for the same office for several years, and have done similar work for various parties in various places. Last, but not least, I am my mother's daughter, and, under her good training, can boast, without conceit, of being a good housekeeper, a nurse and a 'Southern cook.' It does seem to me we ought to be needed somewhere, and be able to command a moneyed recompense that would enable us to live well in our modest way. We will be so grateful for any help you may give us to find employment that is honorable."

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Thomas Flaherty and Lizzie A. Boone, John Dudley Baskett and Marie Hayden McCorklin, Peter Jennings and Margaret A. Finckner, M. B. Payton and Emma Caswell, Guy Austin Mathis and Virginia Harris, Edward Obermiller and Amelia Hartman, Charles Rapp and Emma Frondorf, Charles Thielman and Mary E. M. O'Brien, Eliza M. Crawley and Lettie Hays.

HAVE ANOTHER GLASS

Is sometimes a wrong request to make, but if it applies to spectacles when a person is ruining his or her eyes trying to see through the wrong glass, it is a Christian duty. Another glass will give relief where there is only distress and a forecast of blindness. If you are not satisfied with your present glasses, try ours. We have given hundreds of ease and comfort, where other opticians and oculists have failed.
